Studying infrastructure in Mozambique

In this multidisciplinary seminar organised by University of Groningen, Utrecht University and LANDac, we will discuss current research on infrastructure development in Mozambique, relating to issues of security, displacement and (international) extractive industries, among others. LANDac attendees with a particular interest in Mozambique and/or researching infrastructure development are more than welcome to pre-register for the event with k.otsuki@uu.nl.

Date: 3 July 2019

Time: 9:00 to 12:00

Location: Janskerkhof 2-3, room n.110

Researching land conflicts: taking care of the researcher on emotionally-intense topics

By Prof. dr. An Ansoms, University of Louvain-la-Neuve, Belgium.

The literature increasingly engages with discussing the ethical and epistemological dimensions of doing research, looking at how to align to key ethics principles in field research (do-no-harm, continuous consent, protection of anonymity, etc.). However, social scientists are very badly trained when it comes to talk about the emotionality that their research generates.

Participation is free of charge. For registration send an e-mail to landac.geo@uu.nl by Friday 31 May 2019.

Date: Wednesday 3 July 2019

Time: 15.00 to 17.00

Location: Room 110, Janskerkhof 2-3, Utrecht University

Documentary screening : THIS LAND

A special LANDac Annual International Conference 2019 Side-Event

This Land tells the story of rural people in South Africa and their struggle to resist the development of a mine on the land that they have farmed for generations and where their ancestors are buried.

Join us to watch the documentary and go into debate with Janet Bellamy (senior researcher at the Land & Accountability Research Centre in South Africa), Griet Steel (assistant professor Human Geography and Planning, UU), and other experts on community consultation and the requirement of consent to mining or development on land to which there are customary land rights.

Date: 3rd July 2019

Time: 19:00 – 21:00

Location: to be confirmed (Utrecht city centre)

3 July 2019: Keepers of the Land – A Training of Trainers by Rukia Cornelius

Transformative Leadership for African Women's Land Rights

The training

Oxfam's Global Program Framework on Transformative Leadership for Women's Rights provides program, humanitarian, policy and campaigns staff with the tools and guidance to make Transformative Leadership for Women's Rights a reality. In this four-hour session, Rukia Cornelius will provide an introduction to the framework.

More information and call for applications coming soon.
